

Brutus

The thirsty pussycat

There once was a thirsty pussycat called Brutus.

He couldn't drink out of a bottle...

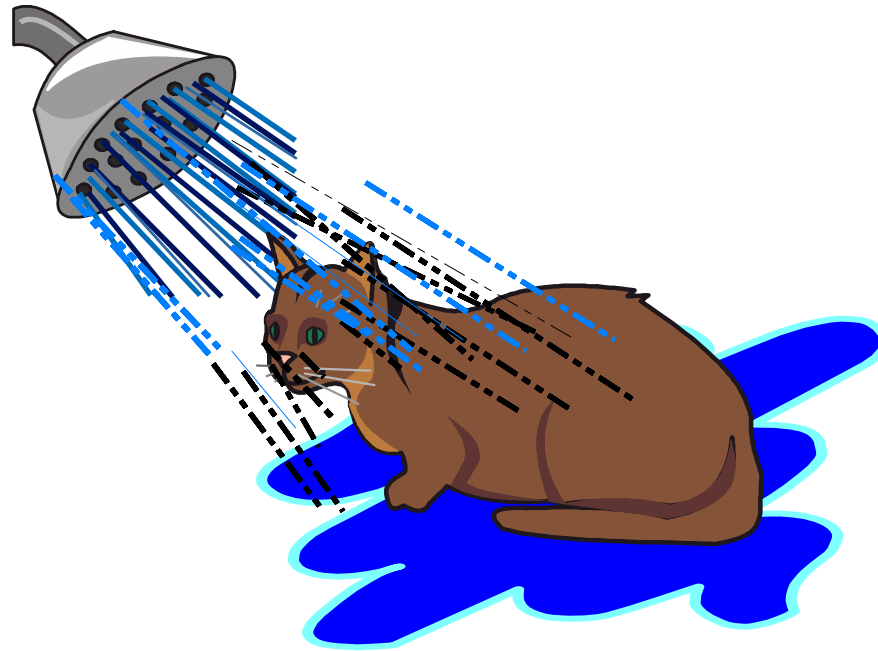

...because he had paws instead of hands.

He tried to drink from a cup...

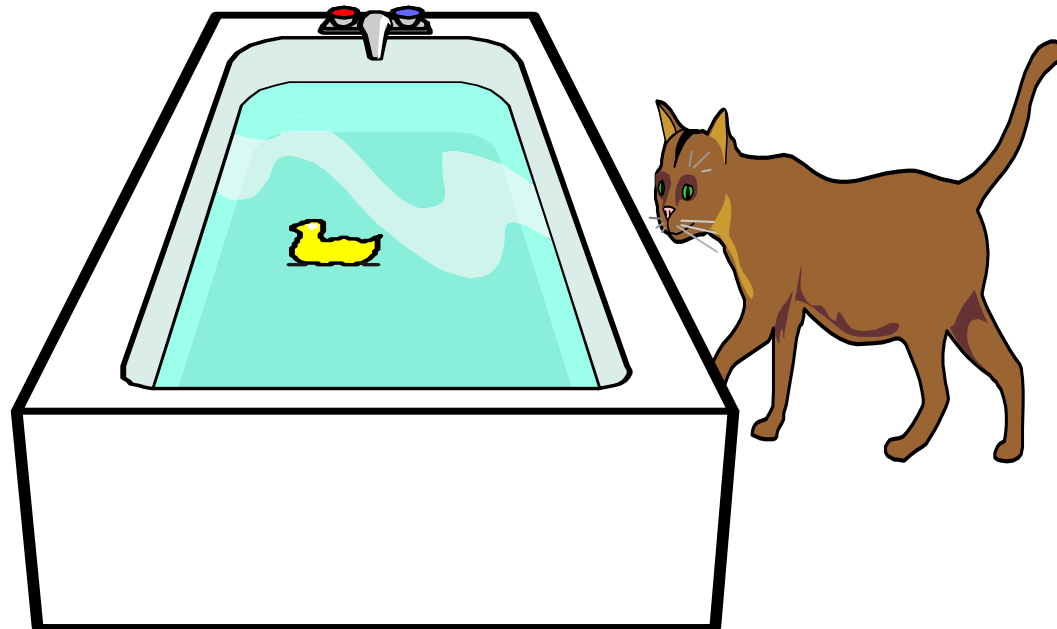

...but he knocked it over on the floor.

He tried drinking from the shower..

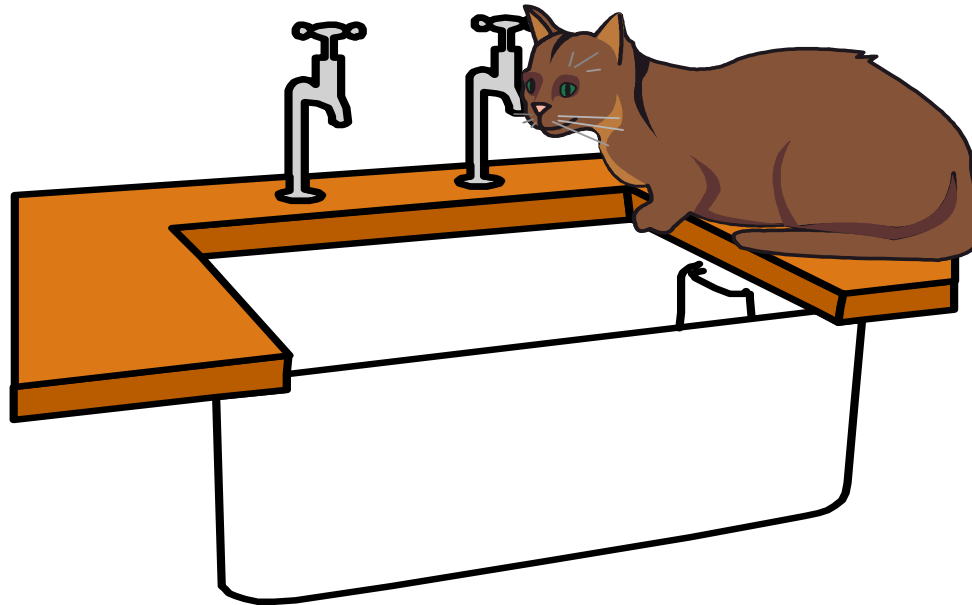

...but he got very, very wet.

He tried drinking from the bath...

...but the water was hot and soapy.

He tried drinking from the sink...

...but the taps were closed tight.

He tried drinking from the toilet...

...but the water was blue and tasted horrible.

He tried drinking from a bucket...

...but the water was dirty and full of sand.

He tried drinking from the drain...

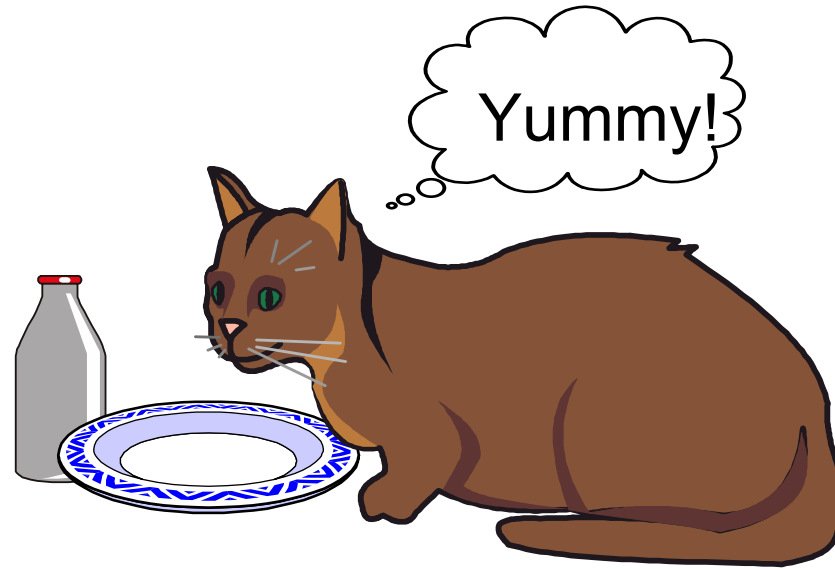

...but the water made him feel sick.

Brutus was a very, very thirsty pussycat.

So he went to find his pet boy that he lived with...

...and drank a saucer of lovely fresh milk.
