

Monkeys

Monkeys are primates.

Primates are part of the same animal family as humans and apes.

+

260

There are over 260 species of monkey around the world.

Most

monkeys

live in

Central and South America,

Africa,

+

Asia.

Their

habitats are tropical rainforests,

savannas

+

and woodlands.

Monkeys

have long arms

and legs.

Monkeys

Monkeys swing, climb, and jump from branch to branch.

They use their hands, feet, and sometimes tails to climb.

Monkeys eat fruit, leaves, nuts and insects.

Monkeys are very clever. They can use tools and remember faces.

Monkeys communicate by making noises, showing faces and waving their arms!

Monkeys prefer to live in groups.